Can't Build an Outdoor Kitchen? Here Are Your Best Options

Option	Cost Range	Features	Best For
Standalone Grills	$30 - $400	Basic charcoal or gas grills requiring no installation or permanent setup. Easy to move and store.	Renters, small backyards, modest budgets, and beginners testing outdoor cooking.
Portable Cooking Stations	$150 - $400	Tabletop grills, compact griddles, and small cooking islands with extra features and prep space.	Small backyards, flexibility, and cooks seeking a middle ground between standalone and full setups.
Modular Cooking Carts	$300 - $1,200	Multi-burner units with storage and prep space. Allow for gradual expansion and mobility.	Households wanting flexibility and the ability to grow their setup over time.
Semi-Permanent Units	$1,500 - $10,000+	Drop-in grills and modular island components creating a durable, expandable outdoor kitchen setup.	Frequent cooks, larger budgets, and those seeking a lasting, high-quality outdoor cooking space.
